Lose Yourself: The Efficacy of Using Rap in English Language Teaching

This workshop will introduce the use of rap or hip-hop as a genre and explore using it as a tool to teach English language. English language teachers may be familiar with the use of music and chants but not as comfortable using rap. The workshop will outline how rap can aid linguistic and cultural learning. Classroom activities utilizing rap lyrics will be demonstrated to teach grammar, fluency, phonics, stress and intonation. The workshop will also discuss the hurdles faced when using rap in terms of selecting materials, teacher reservations, and how rap challenges our understanding of language instruction itself.
